State of the UNION

As Union City High's doors opened to welcome students to the '87-88 school year, life appeared fairly normal — normal, in that locally, within the state, and nationally, there were, as always, both positives and negatives.

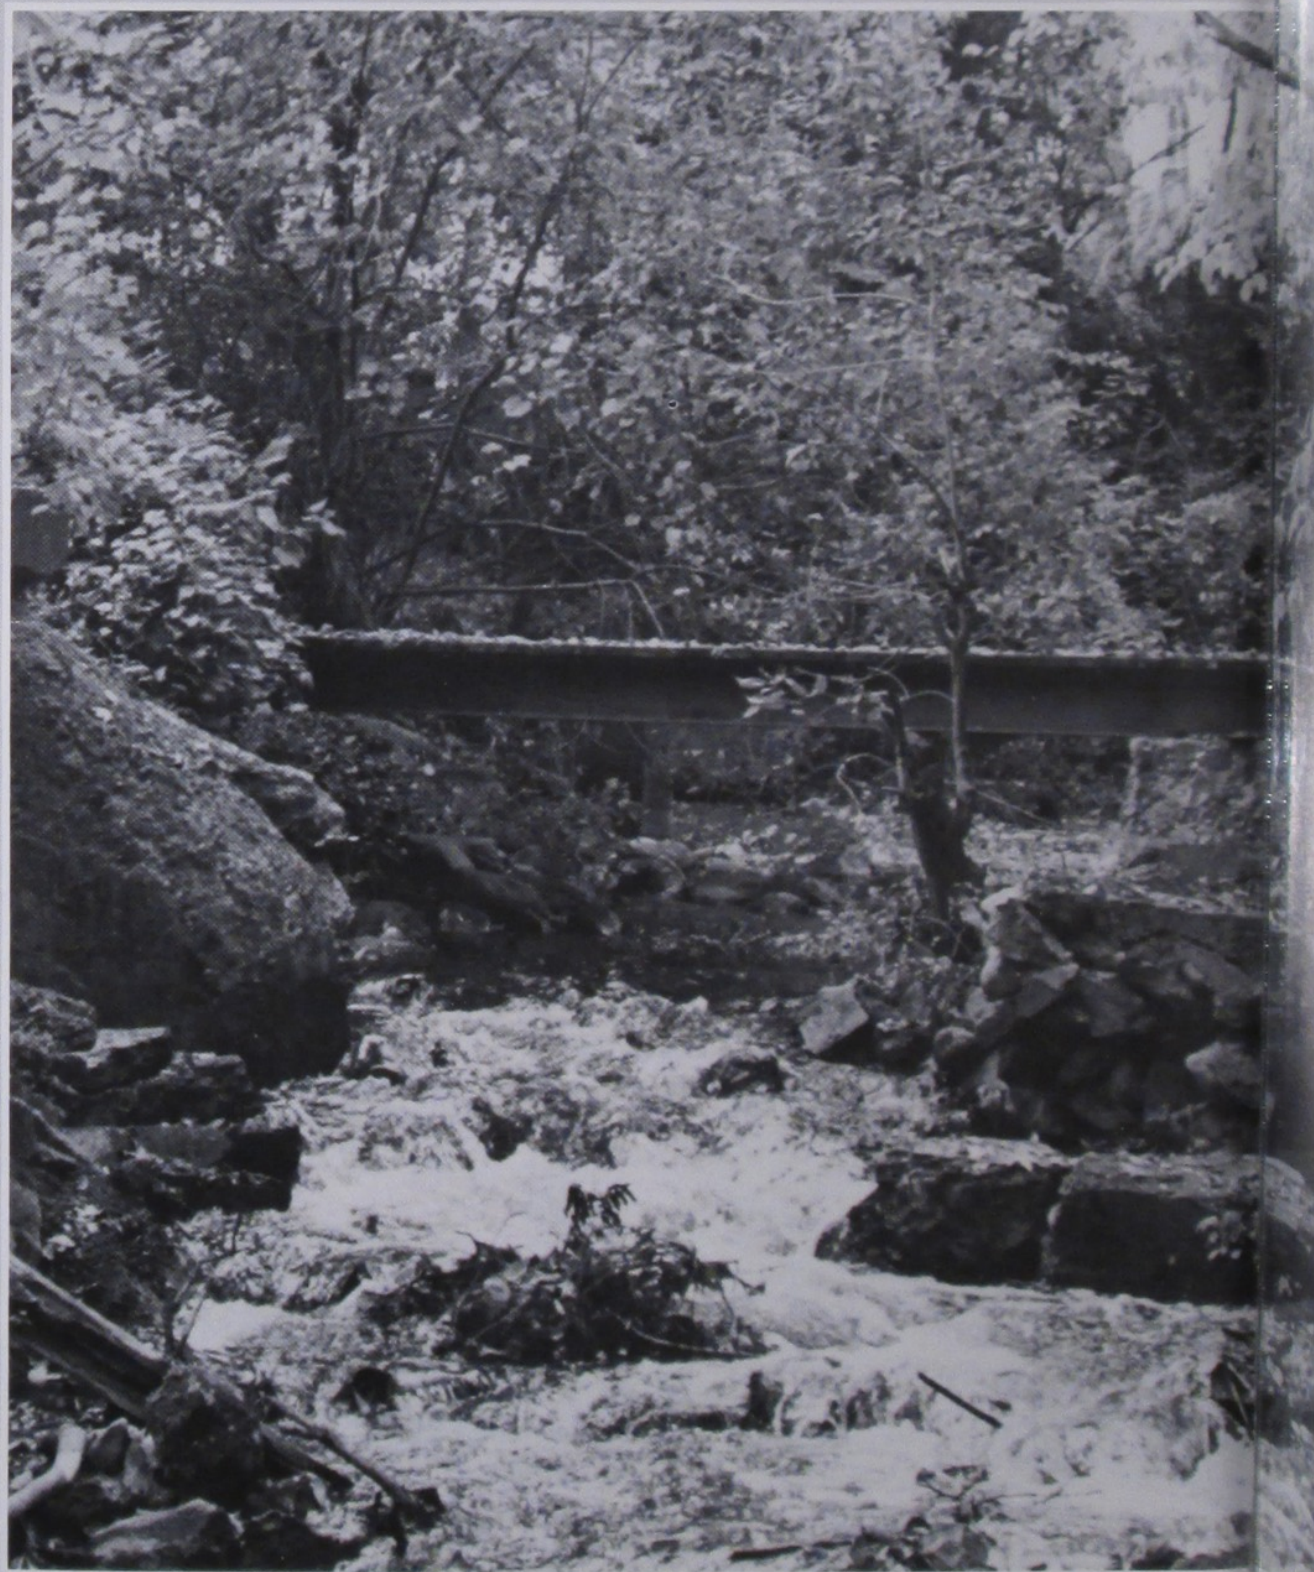

At times, when examining the "State of the Union" on any level, the problems and controversies often seem to be coming out far ahead of positive progress, and September, 1987, on the surface, might have appeared to be following that course.

High school students faced fewer class choices, larger sections, and confused schedules. In addition, a millage vote failed for the second time on the first day of school and was rescheduled for Nov. 12.

Most class problems were settled within a week, but problems which loomed, due to the millage failure remained unsettled in the fall.

Amid the problems, however, lay the positives. The football team won its opening game at home 21-6 against East Jackson. The first new Senior Band uniforms in 27 years were scheduled to arrive in October, and new English and History texts were in use.

Around the state of Michigan, ardent football fans tried to recover from the U of M's loss of its first football game of the season to Notre Dame, and still, too vivid in the minds of state citizens, was the horror of the crash of Northwest Airlines Flight 255 on takeoff from Detroit's Metro Airport in August killing 156 people. The miracle of the crash, the second-worst aviation disaster in U.S. History, was the survival of one passenger, 4-year-old Cecilia Cichan.

In September, Michigan was honored when Pope John Paul II made Detroit one of his stops on his U.S. tour.

Nationally, citizens had spent many summer hours watching as Oliver North, John Poindexter, and others faced stiff congressional scrutinizing for their parts in the Iran-Contra affair.

Fall also found the nation in a mood of celebration as we honored our forefathers and that great historical document, our constitution, which was the ingenious result of their minds and their pens. Once again, we were reminded, that regardless of how unsettling and unpleasant controversy and dissent may be, always, it is also the mark that the State of the Union is healthy and that we need fear for the Union's health only when the controversies become hushed, hidden, or worse yet, simply not allowed.

H omecoming

amid the cold and the rain

By Craig Hoppe

The atmosphere was pure excitement, and the weather was pure cold and vicious, but who could leave?

An excellent homecoming was in store for the spectators and the hometown Charger fans were not disappointed.

It was a close game all the way, and probably halftime was a great relief to the players, but not to the band, flag corps, or the majorettes. As halftime began and the band got through the first routine, it started to pour rain. The band members had no choice but to stand and endure the cold, hard downpour.

The floats, of course got wet, but the creativity of the students of UCHS shone through as usual. Shamayne Steinmann was crowned Homecoming Queen, amidst, and in spite of, the bitter weather, and the final score of the game with Springport was 10-8. Seniors were declared the winners of homecoming and were awarded with the spirit Megaphone.

The week of festivities wrapped up with the annual dance where last year's queen, Dee Dee Marquand placed the crown on Shamayne's head.

Jeff Royer looks on as Tina Watson tries her hardest to win the belching contest for the freshmen.

The snocoming atmosphere was growing as the classes came slowly into the gym for the assembly. After quieting everyone down, the coaches came out and announced their teams. Then, with cheers rocking the bleachers, the Snocoming court was announced. The Mock Olympics began with the egg drink and ended with the Tug-of-War. The end of the assembly came and the crowd left, anticipating the game with Quincy that night.

The Varsity Basketball game began around 8:00 and the Snocoming Court was called onto the floor. Amid loud cheers Ralph Smith was announced as king and was congratulated by his fellow seniors. Union City was victorious over Quincy 65 to 48. At the end of the game the points were tallied up from the week's activities, and the Juniors took fourth place with 77 points, the Freshmen, third place, with 89 points, the Seniors, second place with 101 points, and the Spirit Megaphone was awarded to the Sophomores, with 109 points. At the dance, Snocoming King Ralph Smith escorted, by Nikki Fraley, was crowned by Shamayne Steinmann, the 1987 Homecoming Queen.

Adjusting . . .

. . . to a new culture

Six European exchange students spent the year in Union City, living with local families and attending Union City High School. The cultural change for these young people, meant, in varying degrees, frustration, excitement, loneliness, confusion, fun, and memories guaranteed.

"Everything is all a little different here. Parent's authority seems to be much stronger here."

— Sirpa Hiekkalinna

"Here I can't go places like in Spain. Here we must stay with our host families instead of being with our friends."

— Marta Rodriguez

"I like living here, it's small but cozy."

— Sirpa Hiekkalinna

"The teenagers are very different here. They want to be bigger than their real age and do stupid things. The people in Brazil are very friendly and here the people are very closed."

— Dan Landim

"The major difference between the U.S. and Finland is that Finland has 2000 years of history while the U.S. only has 200."

— Kati Lius

"I only like special girls. I don't know how to describe it but I'm always in trouble with my heart."

— Dan Landim

"People don't like school in Holland; you have to work much harder and don't do much except study. You learn a lot more there than here. Holland's atmosphere is bad; people don't care for their school."

Things you can always count on the predictability of life at UCHS

You can always count on Andy Johnson being late for first hour.

UCHS has its consistencies. In other words, there are certain happenings you can count on, and there are some people that you can depend upon to act in specific ways. Although one might think these "things you can count on" would all add up to boredom, they actually contribute to the human interest and fun factor that make up the days that add up to memorable years at UCHS.

What can you depend on at UCHS? Well, you can always count on . . .

— Will James and Brad Nichols disagreeing with Mr. Mathis.

— The school halls being colder than it is outside in the winter.

— Allen Zobian getting into an accident.

— Rain on homecoming night.

— Your car not starting when you really need it.

— Nikki Fraley doing her College English papers on the day they are due.

— All the good food being gone by the time you get to the lunch counter.

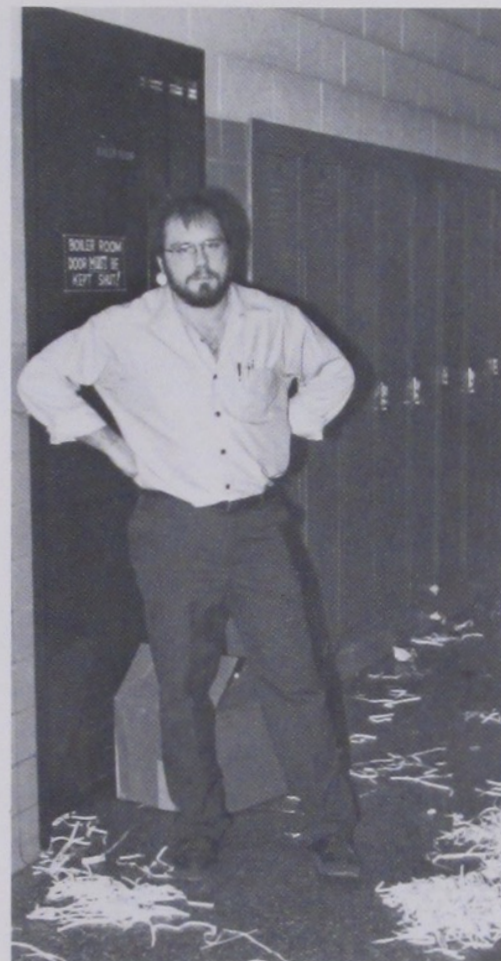

— Everybody doing badly on the Chemistry exams.

— Mr. Miller standing out in the UCHS driveway, stopping you to see if you had a note to leave during lunch.

— Mrs. Alaniz assigning lots of writing assignments.

You can always count on Ms. Wynn being in the cafeteria at lunch. Despite stiff competition, she was voted "favorite Turkey" at Thanksgiving.

You can always count on the Freshmen hall being a mess. Just ask Fred Edwards

You can always count on Stacy Guertler walking the halls during class.

You can always count on Don Hoenes doing his homework.

R emember when . . .

seniors recall early years

As the seniors of '88 looked back over their early years, special memories came rushing back. Many recalled their fun-filled days at the elementary school, and the remembrance of those carefree childhood times provoked smiles, laughter, and the realization that the seniors themselves had undergone vast changes; reminishing about those early days also brought with it the harsh reality that time passes quickly and that the carefree days of childhood were indeed gone forever for the class of '88.

"... I used to cry a lot. This is what I remember about the Union City Elementary School. I was always so scared of not getting my work done on time. I always did, but I was scared of not being able to." Rob Bennett.

"... Sometimes I just wish I could go back to those years of fun when all I had to worry about was milk money, but then I think of how much I've grown and changed and all of the new and wonderful things I'm doing and the fun I'm having." Amy Kever.

"... Although it was twelve years ago, I still remember walking down that long hallway; it was crowded. The people kept bumping into me. They seemed like giants that I read about in a fairytale book." Lisa Amsler.

"... As I watch a class of kindergartners play "Wild Horses" in gym class, I think to myself that I was never that small or energetic. The gym that used to be five miles long now only seems the size a gym should be — small." Christine Weinberg.

"... I remember the first day of school my freshman year. The school seemed immense. I thought I would never make it to all my classes. I concluded from what I heard that I would be trampled when the bell rang." Jenine Barlow.

"As a child I used to play a variety of sports. I loved to play and win. It was such a great feeling to see everyone's faces gleaming with joy. Their eyes lighted up with fire with every victory; everyone felt on top. I used to play sports for this reason ... The special Olympics is where my whole outlook on competition changed. I saw runners who could have not possibly won, but they still ventured their deformed bodies to the race ... They could never win, but they were all winners." Andy Johnson

"... When I was little I pulled my parents from place to place. I would beg to see the people dressed as Disney characters. I looked all day for Winnie-the-Pooh. Last year I avoided the characters every time they came near. I didn't want to feel stupid or be stared at if one approached me." Tracy Pifer.

The Varsity football season was made up of hard practices, heartbreaking games, and lots of hard work, but through it all, the fighting Charger spirit shone true as the team defeated Springport for a homecoming victory of 10-8.

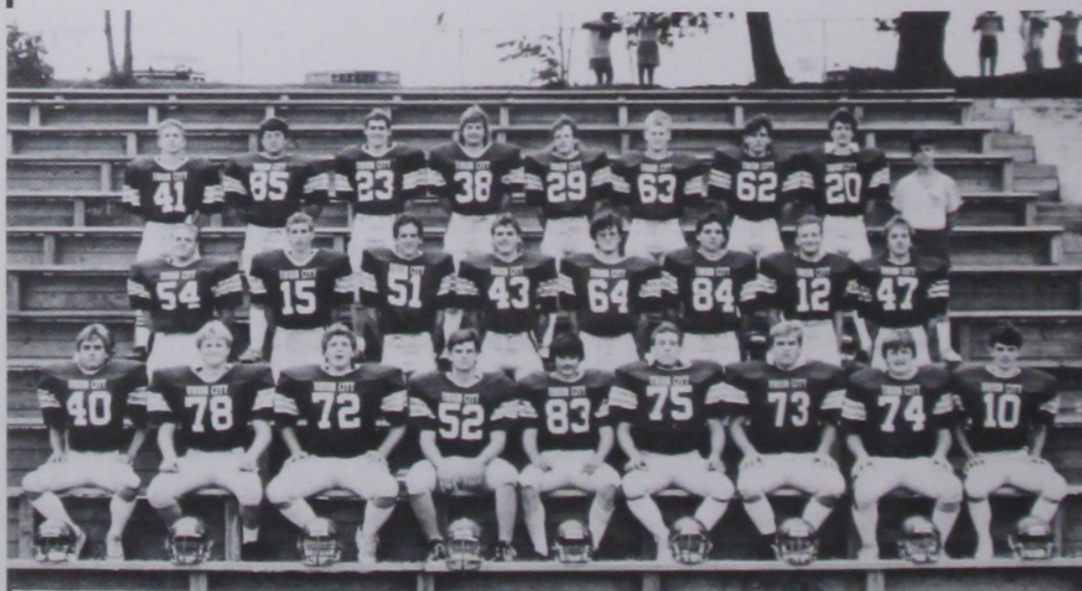

The Chargers easily defeated East Jackson in their first season game with a 21-0 score but had to fight all the way for the 24-20 victory over Reading.

The most heartbreaking defeat the team suffered took place at the Cascade Conference playoffs. Using all their Charger might and power, the team slowly had to surrender as Michigan Center pressed determinately on.

We may have lost to Homer and Jonesville but our strong offense and defense kept them scrambling for the points to beat the mighty Chargers.

Despite the coaches' plan for a tough offense and defense, Senior Chad Wilson felt, "If we had worked harder we could have had a better record."

JV FOOTBALL

The Winning Edge

the JV had it!

By Michelle Smith

The J.V. Football team experienced an exciting season this year. Hard work, coupled with new spirit and determination, made up a winning season of 6-2.

The determination and spirit displayed by both the freshmen and sophomores made the game with Athens a victory. The score of 40-22 made it possible for the young Chargers to reclaim the Little Brown Jug and put it proudly on display.

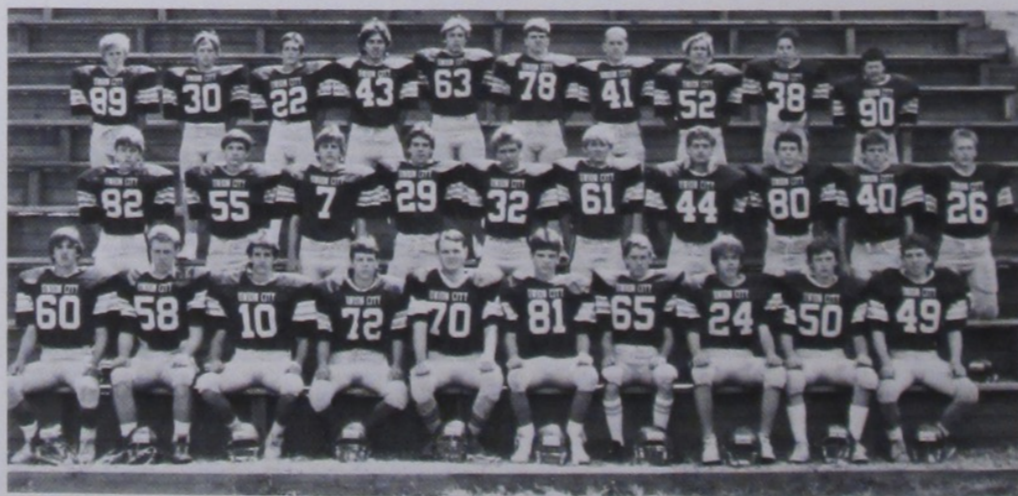

The game that really proved how hard the Chargers had worked during practice was the hard fought battle with Quincy. After playing a tough offense and defense, the final score was 20-14.

Despite losing two games, Mr. Tineria proudly stated, "The key to the season was the offensive and defensive lines. By the midseason they were coming together well. This gave the whole team the confidence it needed to be competitive."

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Season Ends 9-14

Clutter, all conference

The 1988 Girls Varsity Basketball Team had a pretty good season with an overall record of 9-14. The team consisting of 5 Juniors and 5 Seniors considered the season's highlights to be their wins over Athens, Bronson, and Quincy. The win over Bronson, 49-46, carried the Lady Chargers to District Finals. The game had everyone on edge as Union City fell behind 25-19. It looked as if U.C. might be defeated a third time by the Vikings. When the score tied up at 46, Julie Simington was fouled with only 10 seconds left in the game. She made her first free throw bringing the Chargers out ahead. As Shamayne Steinmann took the rebound she was fouled. Making both free throws, the Lady Chargers won with a three-point lead.

Another highlight of the season was the nomination of Lea Clutter to all-conference. Lea stated it was an honor and something she worked for all season. "It felt good to realize that other coaches thought I did well enough to make all-conference," she said.

Senior Nikki Fraley and Junior Julie Simington received honorable mention.

Joanna Bronson puts up two for Union City.

Starting off the season with a losing game against Bronson, the J.V. girls were determined to improve their game. After hours of drills and hardwork, the game with Homer paid off. Pacing themselves successfully, the Chargers came up with a winning score of 40-23.

Good teamwork between the freshmen and sophomores made the game with Reading a victory. Talent and speed, displayed proudly by the young Chargers, made it possible for the Rangers to be defeated 51-46.

"With an overall win/loss column of 9/11, there are high hopes for next year's team," stated Coach Mike O'Reilly.

Troubled Season

Howell named M.V.P.

Even though the golf team finished 0-15 for the season, they finished in style in their new uniforms.

The team was led by M.V.P. John Howell who greatly contributed to the team mentally and physically.

The season was highlighted by Chris Gottschalk's hole-in-one right here on the U.C. Golf Course at Turtle Creek. This feat was witnessed by fellow teammate Bruce Mills.

After this event the coaching staff expected great things from Chris who finished with the second best record on the team. The team also had two freshmen hopefuls who are expected to do great things in the upcoming years.

Even though the season was a disappointment, the young team is expected to do very well next year.

ready for next year

The Cross Country Team didn't win many meets this year, but they gained a lot of experience and ran hard. With only two seniors on the team, the underclassmen gained a lot of experience for next year.

The team steadily improved its times over the course of this year, averaging between 20 to 24 minutes at the beginning of the season, and by the end, four people were running under 19 minutes and nobody was running over 22 minutes.

The team, coached by Dennis Stanton and Mike McFeters, finished with a 2-7 overall record and a 1-5 record in the conference. By Chris Mathis.

The varsity basketball team didn't have the greatest season this year, but they worked hard and finished with a 6-14 record, tying for 4th in the conference.

Variety seemed to be the key to this year's season because there were big wins, big losses, and some close games. Two of the big wins were definitely highlights of the season, including the 74-57 win over Springport which was also the Chargers' first win of the season, and the 60-48 win over Reading.

The 64-63 loss to Quincy was definitely a heartbreaker. The Chargers had a 6-point lead with less than 30 seconds left in the game when Quincy made an amazing comeback to put the game in overtime, and the Chargers ended up losing by one point.

This year's coach was Vern AcMoody.

The Junior Varsity 1987-88 team was a young one. After two sophomores were moved up to Varsity in the middle of the season, the J.V. team was left with all freshmen, but the year was a fairly good one for the young Chargers. Very rarely did they play a boring game. Their games were always intense.

The Chargers first win of the season was a narrow 55-51 win over Athens. The win came after three consecutive losses and fired up the Chargers, as they went on to win two of their three following games.

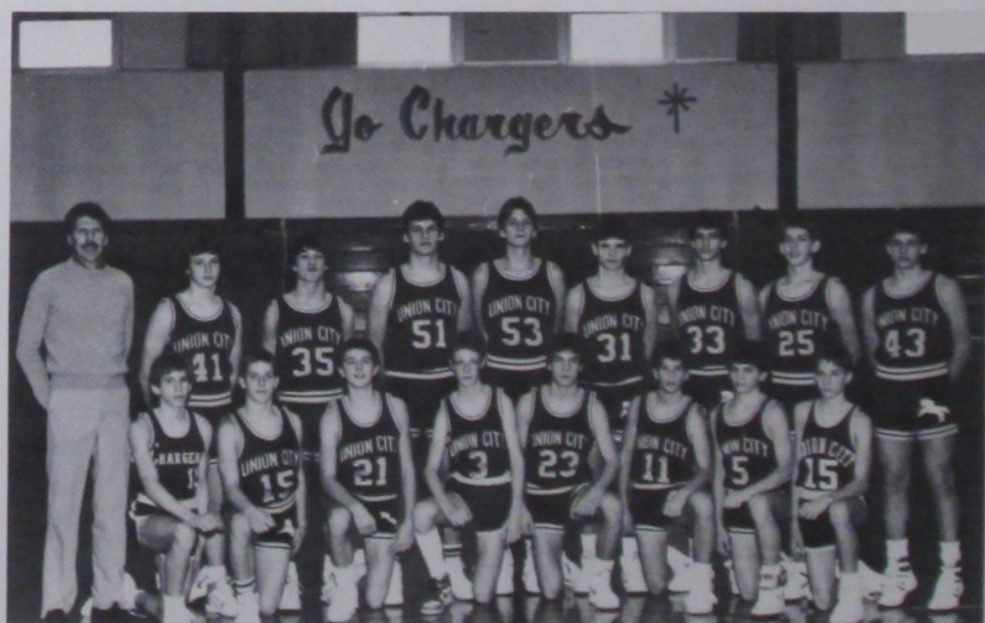

The Chargers record of 4-16 really doesn't show how well they played because many games were close ones that ended up as heartbreaking losses. One game was an overtime loss to Reading. The Chargers had a 27-19 lead going into the fourth quarter, but Reading came back to tie the game, and forced it into overtime. Union City only scored one point in overtime, and lost 58-53.

This year's team was coached by Tom Gillette.

Determination, strength, skill, courage, and sheer will are all elements of wrestling. While watching someone wrestle, you can feel the excitement of winning or the bitter disappointment of losing. The hard practices and determination of the team to push themselves to the limit paid off this year, giving the team a first in districts and eleven other wins.

In a close meet with Edwardsburg, the Chargers pulled ahead with a score of 37-32. At Jonesville, when the wrestlers displayed a lot of heart and team spirit, they tied for first place with Quincy and Jonesville. Strong leadership and cleverness on the mat pushed the team into second place at Branch County, Pennfield, and Stockbridge Invitationals. When asked what the key to the season was, Assistant coach Jeff Hilarides said, "The guys really rallied around the team. They were supportive of one another and worked hard together." The hard work and support also gave the team third places at Harper Creek and Union City Invitationals and also a third in the conference meet.

The team leaders Tom Madden, Jeff Kent, and Tom Olson helped to keep the team's attitude positive when the practices seemed too hard or when injuries occurred. In the end, the chargers learned that hard work and dedication make a winning team.

The 1987-88 Varsity Volleyball team started out quite slowly this season but steadily improved with high hopes for districts. The young team fought hard all season but luck didn't seem to be on their side much of the time. This year's team consisted of four seniors and seven juniors. The seven juniors, who will be returning next year will make up a strong team, one that will be hard to beat. Coach Denise Tefft felt that the team was well conditioned but they had a hard time working together all at the same time.

The girls had many close games and matches, one of which was with Athens. Both teams seemed quite equally matched but our girls came out ahead in the first game. The second game, the Lady Chargers' communication broke down and Athens won. The third and final game was one of excellent skill by both teams but Athens again came out on top with the final score of 14-16 to win the match. The girls were quite upset but realized that their efforts weren't in vain.

A team of six walks onto the court. The coach shouts advice and knows the six players are ready to give the match their all. At the end of the match, the players have shown they can work together as a team and win. The traditional bump, set, and spike becomes a familiar phrase heard by the J.V. Volleyball team.

Newcomers to the hard competition of H.S. Volleyball, the freshmen proved they could hold their own with the sophomores. Hard practices made up of the jump guard, serving drills, and learning to work together made them keep their mind on nothing else but Volleyball. Placing third in the county tournament, the J.V. team also won two matches against Homer and Quincy where determination, team spirit, and working together made the difference. By Michelle Smith

defeat darth deadline

Once upon a time, in a school far, far away from Hawaii lived 22 Journalism students, headed by the courageous heroines, Cherie Wortman and Terri Cline. On the other side of town lived their deadly foe, Darth Deadline, created by the evil Dr. Jostens.

The heroines went through seven days of intensive training to learn how to defeat Darth Deadline, in a place far, far away from Union City, called Ball State University. "It was an excellent opportunity, but the work was agonizing," said Terri Cline.

When the heroines came back, they trained the other 20 journalism students how to defeat the nasty villain, while making the best darn yearbook in the country. "People don't realize that if we miss the (Darth) deadline, the yearbook won't come out until next year," said Cherie Wortman.

In a few months Darth Deadline came around and the students defeated him by turning in the best pages ever, on time. "I couldn't believe we actually did it! This has to be the best yearbook staff ever," said excited journalism student, Bruce Mills.

Although this situation is dramatized, it is real.

airstyles . . . '87-'88

Wondering how to get your hair done? Well, here at Union City you could see a variety of hairstyles in 1987-88, ranging from long to short, and from curly to straight. It didn't matter what kind of hairstyle you wanted, once it was seen, it was "in".

The big look with the guys was shaving lines in the side of their hair. Aaron Leson said that he got his hair shaved because it looked good. Although, many went with the trend, others kept a more conservative style.

Many girls wore a crazy, wild look. Dee Beemer said she liked the wind-blown effect, because it was easy to do, while Renee' Palmatier had a wild look, because she said that she liked to look crazy. More girls also went so far as to shave the sides of their heads. So, no matter what kind of hairstyle you wanted in 1987-88, it was "in". By A. Ladd

State of the UNION

World and National news in 1987-88 concerned the Iran-Contra affair, the upcoming presidential elections, and the scary spread of the disease, Aids. These events will certainly occupy a spot in our memories of the year, but the happenings which will be remembered most vividly by UCHS students in the years to come will include the classes, the people, and the isolated funny moments that comprised the "State of the Union" in 1987-88. What we did seemed more important to us than any news a telecaster could report because we were the ones who made up the headlines.

If one were to look at the headlines concerning the State of Union City, they might have read about ...

... Mr. Tebbe and Mr. Pensari's car accident as they attempted to check road conditions for school on Arbogast Road.

... Mr. Katz leaving the gas hose in his car at Citgo's and driving away, pulling the hose out of the pump and dumping 25 gallons of gas onto the parking lot and into the road and the fire truck arriving without any water.

... Stacy Guertler trying to be funny and bump the back of Terri Cline's car and nearly giving Terri whiplash.

... Marcia Hoath cruising down Park Street hill right into the rear end of Jamie Jackson's car.

... The band's truck starting to roll away during Heritage Days.

... The passing of the millage, reinstating all extracurricular activities and sports.

... The removal of Chris Mathis' car from the school parking lot into a snowbank.

... Stacy Guertler campaigning strong for the ERA, not just the ER.

... Numerous students crashing their cars due to bad road conditions.

... After all of these years, Mr. Mathis' sense of humor continuing to improve.
