Forword

In the absence of the Editor, Janice Wilkinson, at the time when this book was being made up I have the pleasure of writing this introduction to your 1958 Oriole-Annual.

This years annual is unique in that it was entirely printed here at Quincy High School. Perhaps it may not reach the standards of many yearbook publishers but the important thing is that Quincy students published their own book.

As you know, for several years the school paper and the school annual have been given to the Journalism Class as class projects. The feeling was that if there was any educational value in publishing the school annual it should be included in the schools curriculum. If there wasn't any learning value then it should be eliminated from the schools activities.

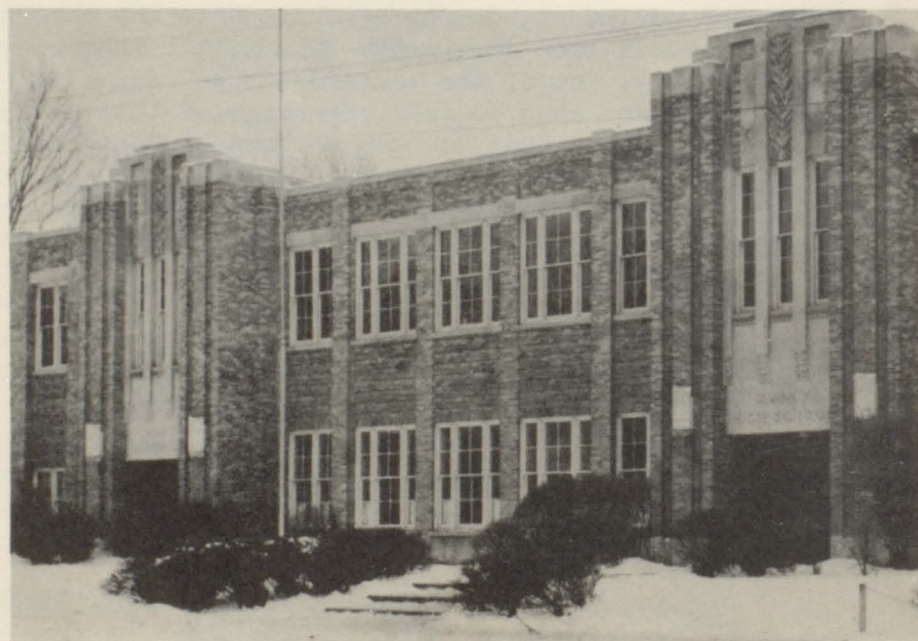

Obviously there are many educational experiences which are valuable to high school students in publishing a year book. Students learn scheduling and planning, lay out, yearbook finance, and this year with our own press and equipment, Quincy students have the opportunity to learn how a book is printed by offset lithography. Unfortunately, few of the members of the Journalism Class have been able to take advantage of this unique opportunity. Katheryn Rzepka has been the only student to help in the production of this book and I wish to give her full credit for her invaluable assistance. Other members of the class were attending summer session at various universities.

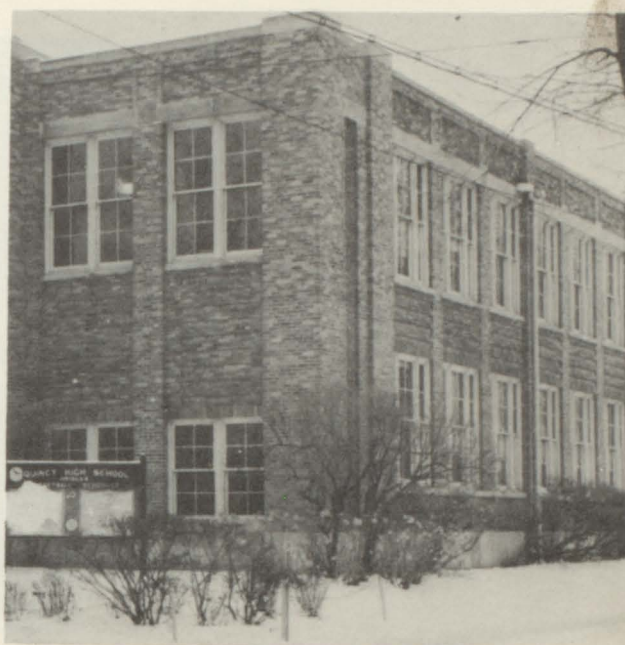

Unfortunately, due to the recession, the high school press will have to be returned. However, the Journalism Class has had the opportunity, if only for this year, of learning lithographic printing.

Please remember when looking through your Annual that this is the product of a class project and is not meant to be competitive with the work of established school annual publishers.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS AND ADVISORS: Dick Faulkner, Pres., Mr. Elenbaas, Sharon McDonald, Treasurer, Thelma Semmelroth, Secretary, Mrs. Volkert, Roger Henry, Vice Pres.

As the doors of QHS opened in September of 1957, fifty-eight eager seniors came in to proceed toward their goal--graduation.

As the Homecoming rapidly approached, they made plans for it. They chose candidates for Homecoming King and Queen. Louie Wilcox and Janice Fischer were elected and were crowned at the dance.

Sharon McDonald was honored as valdictorian and Janice Fischer as salutatorian.

The Annual Jr. and Sr. Banquet was held in the elementary gym and the Juniors served a Swiss steak supper.

One of the outstanding events in the senior year was the senior play. Mr. Elenbaas and Mrs. Volkert directed the play, "Professor, How Could You," which was a big success.

One day they anxiously awaited was "Skip Day"! They all went to Pokagon and had fun tobaggoning, skating and skiing.

The Juniors are known throughout the Student Body as "the peppiest class in school." One of their "claims to fame" is the Pep Jug, which they won at Homecoming.

They all had a lot of fun at their toboggan party at Pokagon State Park. Or at least we think it must have been fun, for they all complained of aches and pains for the next week.

Their Junior Play entitled "The Night is My Enemy" was a big success, netting them $140 profit. The party afterwards at Jeff's house was lots of fun.

The Junior-Senior Banquet followed a few days later, and was a lot of work, but that steak sure tasted good. They were all glad for a chance to honor the Seniors.

Close to the end of the year, the class sponsored the traditional J-Hop. All the members were glad to see that it went off as planned.

President, Mary Ann Batman, Vice President,
Janice Esterline, Secretary

"Poor green freshmen" started the year off with a bang, by winning third place in the race for the Pep Jug. They beat the more experienced sophomores who came in fourth. Carolyn Locke and Don Peterson represented their class on the Queen's Court.

The class, and their guests, had fun at a tobogganing party at Pokagon. Especially Carol Faulkner who picked on Mr. Evans until he finally washed her face.

The Bunny Hop was held in March and was "real cool." A disc jockey from WTVB presided. It turned out to be a very successful year for most of them, and they are hopefully looking forward to next year.

Quincy High School's Band has once more had a profitable year. Twenty-four new musicians were added from the "B" Band to replace last years seniors. The resulting fifth-seven member group has the highest potential of any former year.

The Band began its marching season with the football squad, furnishing entertainment during halves at all the home games. "Presenting the Quincy High School Marching Band," was a call welcomed by the football fans at every game.

The first trip of the year was to Ann Arbor for "Band Day". Quincy was one of 190 bands participating.

The winter months were one of the bands busiest seasons. They were not only busily preparing for contests, such as the solo and ensemble festival in Kalamazoo and the District Band and Orchestra Festival in Middleville, but also attended a concert by the University of Michigan Symphony Band in Ann Arbor. As if this were not enough to keep them busy, the band also exhibited its abilities to the local patrons at the annual Winter Concert, Dec. 11, and later at the All Band Concert in the spring.

In January the band had a tobaggan party at Pokagon Park.

This year the Band exchanged concerts with the Constatine High School Band. Constatine's student body thoroughly enjoyed the concert, especially "Humorescapade".

Quincy Musicans traveled to Ann Arbor this year for the State Band and Orchestra festival.

FIRST ROW: Judy Hutchins, Joan Zimmerman, Sandra Green, Carol Cochrane, Carol Smith

An exciting 1957-1958 year was enjoyed by the B Band.

The first big event for the band was marching at the Homecoming and Harvest Festivals'. Later in the year a class skating party was enjoyed by many of the members.

The next big event was the Spring Festival. The band played seven songs.

THIRD ROW: Tom Kowalski, Robert Wright, Fernando Krymis, Frank Harbaugh, Jackie Ames, Nancy Buell, Tom Tervol, Mary Rurka

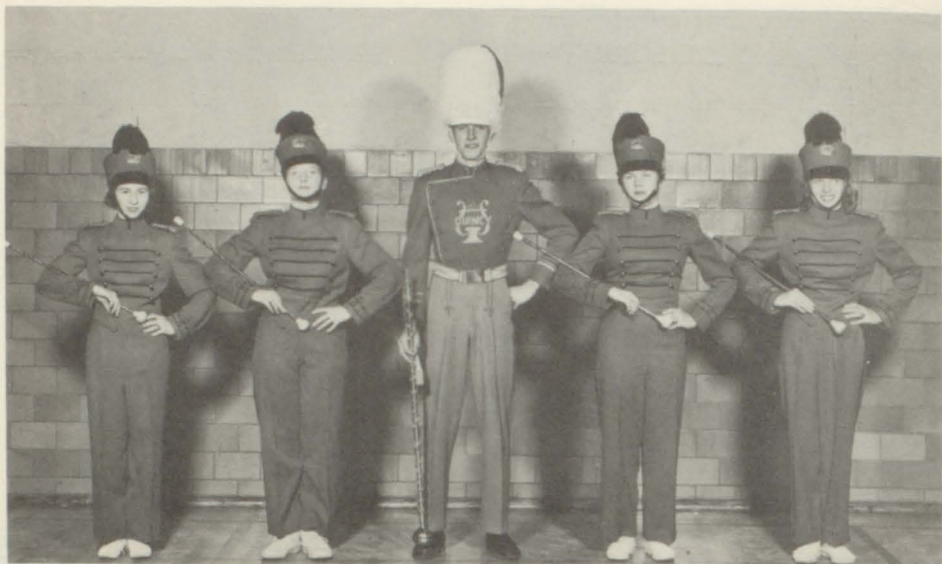

SECOND ROW: Nancy Laurell, Robin Brown, Jeffery Bates, Larry Satchfield, Jerry Carpenter, Tommy Brockman, Gary Clingan, Leon Parrish

FIRST ROW: Richard Hartley, Patty Adams, Sharon VanHoosier, Joyce Hall, Sharon Johnson, Margaret Moore

Throughout the year the different sections of the band attended sectionals on every Tuesday of the week. These are free instruction classes given by Mr. Hause.

The last grand finale was the long, hot marches in Allen and Quincy, on Memorial Day. It was a big finish for a great year in the B Band.

"A" Band Major and Majorettes

A flashy section of the "A" Band is its four majorettes. Wearing their trim orange uniforms, they may be seen proudly leading the Band in parades and at football games. This year, they led the Band in the Halloween parade, Memorial Day parade, Homecoming parade, at Holland, and at the half of all the home football games.

Lois Kelly and Susan Smith are completing their third year as majorettes while Evelyn Spencer and Patty Hacker are completing their first year.

"B" Major and Majorettes

Leading the "B" Band in the Homecoming, Halloween, and Memorial Day Parades were the "B" Majorettes. They also did a fine job leading the "B" Band as it marched at halftime at the Homecoming football game.

Cadet Band

FIRST ROW: Jeff Kanouse, Jimmy Rogers, Keith King, Karen McClintic, Rexine Brauker, Ray Monte, Judy Ames, Beth Alexander

In the Cadet Band lie all of Quincy's hopes for having a A-1 marching and concert band.

They have been practicing with the thought in mind of the day when they will proudly own the gray and orange suits, and become members of the "A" Band.

The Cadet Band learns the fundamentals of marching and the correct way to care for and play their instrument.

The Cadet Band took part in the Annual Spring Music Festival.

For the first time, the girls organized a Girls Athletic Association. The purpose of the club is to keep girls interested in sports.

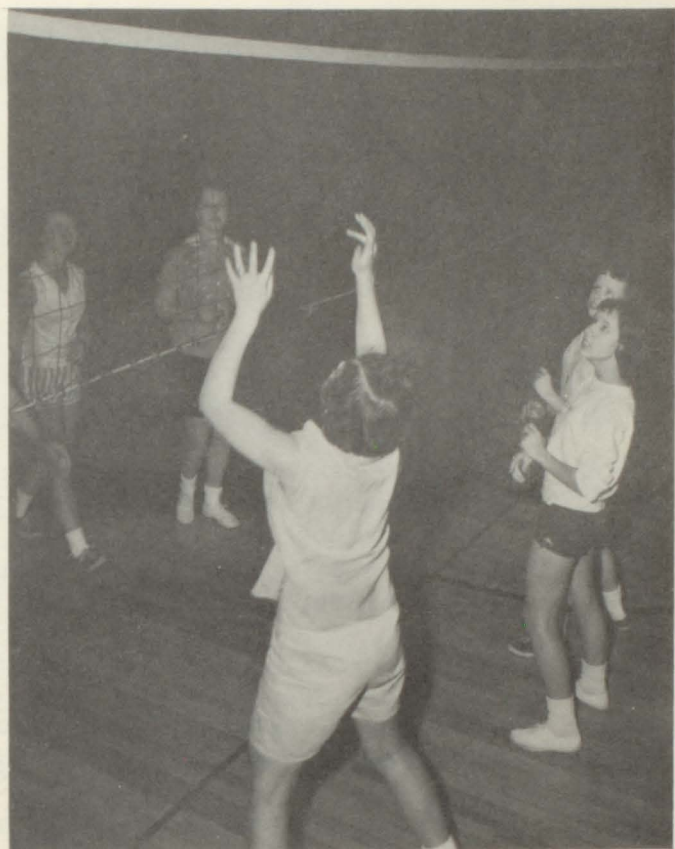

On November 19, the first meeting officers and representatives were chosen to work with the officers. Sharon McDonald represented the Seniors, Sharon Shillings, Juniors, Susan Zeck, Sophomores, and Judy Fischer represented the Freshmen. These girls wrote the constitution for the club.

The club held 'game nights' in the gym so they could earn points for awards they are to receive this spring.

For money making projects they held two record hops.

The Freshman Football team, coached by J a c k Clark, had a rather unsuccessful season, but the boys learned the sense of fair play.

The Freshman team was rather small, so some of the Sophomore boys filled in to make up the team. A new experience for the boys was to play the State Home and Training School, which they lost also along with the Bronson and Union City games. With a year of experience, the boys will be a great asset to the Reserve Squad.

Thanks to the boys and their new c o a c h, Mr. Richard Cesler, Quincy's basketball f u t u r e looks bright. The t e a m came from no wins to three. All these boys were on the team l a s t year except for LeRoy Smith and Manager Fred Watson.

Although the team had a defeating season this year, no team in the conference had more spirit than the Oriole Squad.

The Orioles won one game this season, from Athens. This game will be remembered always because only four boys finished the game.

The team lacked mostly in height and experience.

Although the team had a losing season, the Reserves had a lot of fun.

LeRoy Smith, Ralph Murkle, Floyd Folgue, and Willard Ingersol joined the team later in the season.

The team won their three games against Union City, Reading, and Jonesville.

Two heartbreakers were lost to Union City the second time the team played them and the other to St. Charles.

"Come on Team Fight," was the cry of the football cheerleaders. These girls always tried to keep the school spirit up.

This will be the last year of cheerleading for Lois Kelly, Sharon McDonald, and Nancy Cochrane. Lois has been a football cheerleader for four years. Sharon has been a cheerleader for two a half years and Nancy Cochrane for two years.

This was the first year of football cheerleading for Judy Fischer, Donna Brazee and Judy Baker. Nancy Jaynes has been on the squad two years.

Varsity Basketball Cheerleaders

L. to R. JoAnn Blue, Sharon McDonald, Nancy Cochran, Nancy Jaynes

Four girls made up the varsity basketball squad this year. This is the last year for Sharon McDonald and Nancy Cochran who have each served on the varsity squad for two years. This makes two years of varsity cheerleading for Nancy Jaynes and one year for JoAnn Blue.

The girls sponsored the "Varsity Drag" to raise the money for their uniforms. The girls bought their own sweaters, but used the money from the dance to buy material for their skirts and make them themselves.

Reserve Basketball Cheerleaders

Judy Baker has served on the reserve squad for two years. This is the first year for Donna Brazee, Judy Fischer, and Peg Gerth.

The girls bought their own material for their uniforms and had them made.

L. to R. Nancy Ehl, Carol Smith, Jackie Smith, Lonna Becker

In the above picture are the four girls who served on the Jr. High football and basketball cheerleading squad. These girls helped cheer the team on to victory. This makes the second and final year for Jackie Smith and Lonna Becker. This is the first year of cheerleading for Nancy Ehl and Carol Smith.
