All Kinds of Homes

Every community desires the best in education for its children. The Cardinal this year has attempted to show how students from all areas of life receive an education in CHS.

All aspects of the high school are considered as educational in value. This includes classroom, club, social, and athletic activities.

Classroom Is Focal Point of

Herb Smuk discusses the use of the ruler with his general shop classes during a drawing session.

Frank Willig, at microscope, and Jim Way study slides during a biology class period.

Student's Education

Virgil Sanders, Dave Ray, Linda Somers, Oliver Hemelepp, Tony Hufnagle and Harold Hepler work with burettes in physics class.

Pierce Roberts shows Dave Moyer and Leatha Houtz how to get oxygen by heating mercurous oxide.

Classrooms Are Center of Education

Librarian Jerome Schipper looks through reference book.

Unidentified student along with Bob Nichols and Jeff Love work in mechanical drawing room.

Physics instructor Bertrand Sibley perches on desk for better view of class during exams.

Don Doan, shop teacher William Timm, and Rolland English work on motor in shop.

Karen Zangker and Julia Maxson type in business machines class.

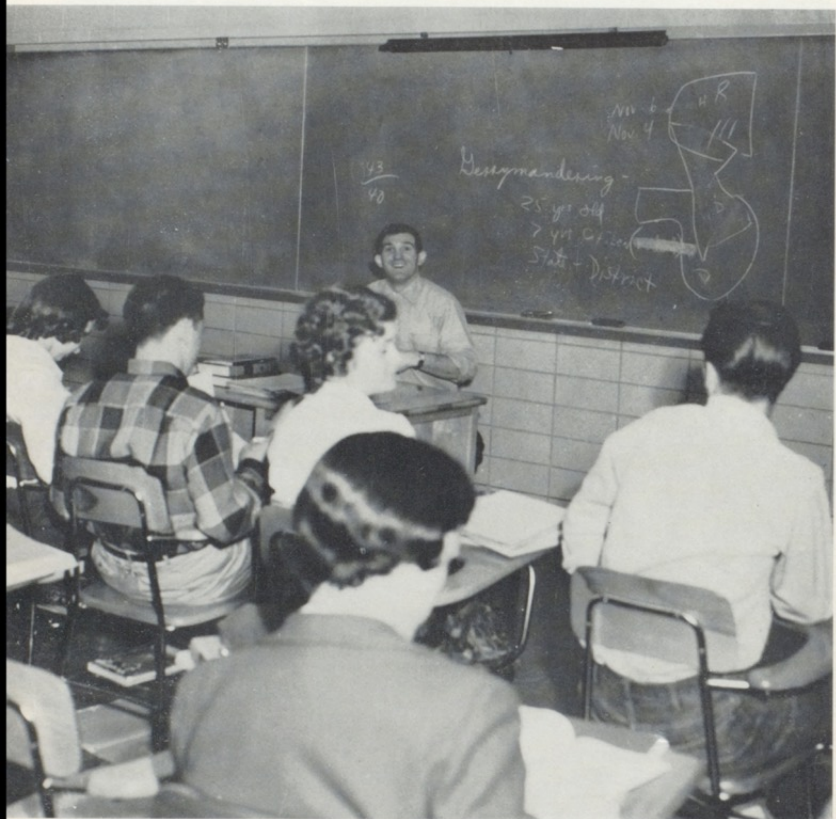

Ron Philbrick, Mike Rehm, and Ted Tompkins practice drums and cymbals in band room.

Nancy Ferguson and Sue Hart use the ditto machine as part of secretarial course.

Students Learn

Many Kinds of Skills at CHS

Bruce Pfost and Oliver Hemlepp, with Mrs. Watson helping them, work on advanced math problems.

Roy Cardenas explains a history question to Ron Easterday.

John Castleberry works on plastic buffer in shop.

Sally Knoth demonstrates speaking ability in speech class.

Ann Carlisle, Valedictorian.

Top Ten Composed

Top priority is always placed on scholarship in any graduating class, and this year Ann Carlisle and Phyllis Dery earned the right to represent the seniors as Valedictorian and Salutatorian, respectively.

An unusual occurrence changed the regular Top Ten to a top eleven this year. A tie for tenth place in scholastic standings caused this change in the annual ratings.

Sally Olson represents this year's graduates as the top citizen. She was chosen to be DAR girl out of several possible candidates from the class.

Sally Knoth and Ron Wilcox received the nod as the Ideal Students of Coldwater High School. This honor is heaped on those whom the teachers feels to be most cooperative, industrious, personal, and scholarly among the males and females of the graduates.

High on the list of educational milestones for the group was the annual Washington-New York trip, held this year during the first week in April following the regular spring vacation.

Projects for the class of 1959 included the refreshment stands both at Waterworks Park during the summer and the ones at the football and basketball games. Money from these were used to finance the trip to the East.

This class, as do all graduating groups of the past and the future, are symbols of an education obtained through 12 years of Coldwater schools.

Phyllis Dery, Salutatorian

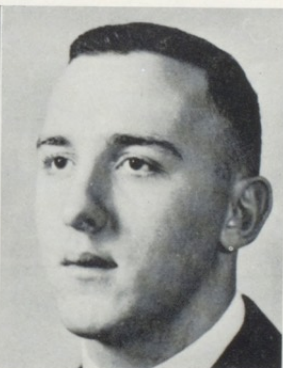

Sally Olson, DAR Girl.

Ron Wilcox, Ideal Boy

161 Seniors Receive CHS Diplomas

Led by President Ann Carlisle, the senior class of 1959 participated in as many activities as humanly possible in order to provide money to finance the Senior Trip held this year during the first week of April.

Refreshments stands and several other projects enabled the group to accumulate enough money so that each of the 70 people who went on the trip only had to pay a nominal fee as their share.

Commencement exercises included 161 pupils who met requirements for the diploma of CHS. Of this group about one-third have stated a desire to attend college next fall.

Administration

E. Byron Thomas
Superintendent of Schools

The three top administrators who have the responsibility of keeping CHS in operating order are Superintendent E. Byron Thomas, Business Manager Axner Olson and Principal Kermit Dennis.

Mr. Thomas, with 11 years as administrative leader, served as principal in Vicksburg, Michigan, before coming here. From 1944-1948, he was senior high principal at Coldwater. He holds an AB from Albion College and an MA from Northwestern.

A member of the CHS staff for 16 years, Axner Olson was appointed business manager three years ago. He has been junior high science and mathematics teacher, and previous to his present position, he was junior high principal. Mr. Olson holds both an AB and MA from Western Michigan.

Kermit Dennis has held his position as senior high principal since 1948. Before that he was a science and mathematics teacher in both junior and senior high and was junior high principal for four years. His degrees include an AB from Adrian and an MA from the University of Michigan.

and Board Battle Millage Problem

Education can not be a hit and miss proposition. Carrying the full responsibility of seeing that the young people of Coldwater receive adequate training in school are the seven members of the Coldwater Board of Education.

Presiding over the board for the third straight year are Dr. Harold Weidner, president; Dr. J. Albert Long, vice-president; Mrs. H. R. Mooi, secretary and James Snyder, treasurer.

Trustees this year were Dr. James Nash, Charles W. Kingsley, and Richard B. Shultz.

Tops among the board's projects this year was the organization of a citizens' committee to study the school system and to make recommendation for improvement.

Along with other duties board members studied the mathematics and reading programs in the elementary schools and discussed with the principals various methods and goals.

In March a millage vote successfully passed, giving the schools more money for a period of three years. The purpose of the extra money was to maintain the system on its present basis.

Band Marches In Rhythmic Style

Coldwater High School's varsity band, this year under the leadership of Chester Curry once again, gave the people interested in music the opportunities to develop their talents.

Topping the list of activities was an all-community concert during the Christmas season followed by a regular band concert held at the high school.

Again the band traveled to Vicksburg to participate in the marching festival held for Lower Michigan schools. This year the Cardinal marchers came home with a second rating.

Participation at all home football games took up much of the band's time during the fall season. The musicians could be found every morning out on the football field in preparation for the halftime shows.

This rounded out laborious practice to make an outstanding varsity band, a stepping stone to musical education.

Part of Well-rounded Music Program

Part of any school's well-rounded educational program is the musical department. Along with instrumental music CHS has a choir and devotes several assemblies per year to musically inclined acts.

Fifty-eight voices made up the Cardinal Choir this year under the direction of Chester Curry. This group performed at the all-city Christmas festival, a Christmas assembly for the high school, a spring concert, and other various school activities.

Soloists and ensemblists for the band department went to Kalamazoo and brought back several top honors to add to the laurels of the department. Many of the people in choir also doubled in the band.

Officers of the choir were: President, Patsy Feller; Vice-President, Esther Harpham; Librarian, Janice Snyder; and Point System Sergeant, Chuck Hutchins. Esther Harpham also acted as accompanist.

Commission Initiates New Parking

The Coldwater High Student Commission, under the leadership of Mayor Jan Bopp, completed many worthwhile projects this year. Assisting Jan were the clerk, Dorothy Carlisle, and eight commissioners, two from each class in CHS.

Starting their work during last summer, the Commission completed the painting and tiling of the recreation room and revised and lengthened the handbook, which explains the policies and principals of CHS. A copy of this handbook was given to each student on the first day of school. They also organized and established a new parking system in order to eliminate the congestion caused in the parking lots around the school.

One of the main objectives of the commission was to promote the athletic program and the school spirit. In order to do this, they had several pep assemblies and sponsored pep buses to the out-of-town football games.

They also sponsored a dance, just before Christmas, in the CHS gym, and contributed the proceeds to the annual Clothe-A-Child campaign.

Commissioner advisor James Vincent talks over a student government problem with Mayor Jan Bopp.

Mary Jane Nichols and Mike Brayton, sophomore commissioners, read over school constitution.

Commissioners discuss business during a regularly scheduled meeting in the conference room.

“Education” Theme of 1959 Cardinal

The Cardinal staff, headed this year by Keith Tice, and his assistant, Gordon Hinckley, decided to use an educational theme, the where and what of education, for the 1959 annual.

The aim of the staff was to show where education takes place for all the students. Not only the practical learning in the classroom, but also the social development of high school students was stressed.

They also tried to demonstrate the importance of the non-scholastic subjects such as physical education, home economics and shop. These special classes are just as helpful to the students, and are necessary for a well-rounded education.

Phyllis Dery and Linda Somers, both Quill and Scroll award winners, work on Cardinal during eighth hour.

Cardinal editor Keith Tice and his assistant Gordon Hinckley work together to iron out some problems encountered in producing the annual. Almost every day of the week these two could be found reading pictures for engravings.

After checking and rechecking names, pictures, and copy, Sally Olson and Pat Berry, who had charge of the senior section of the Cardinal, put the finishing touches on a panel of graduating seniors.

Celebrating the first big snowfall of the winter, the members of the eighth hour publications staff take time off their duties to have a good old fashioned snowball fight after school.

Publications Staffs Inform School and Public

To inform the public and the students about the functions and the activities of the Coldwater education system was the main objectives of the "Cardinal Chatter" and "The Mirror" staffs this past year.

"Chatter" editors Diane Davison, Sally Knoth, and Judy Short, along with their staffs, strived to bring more classroom and faculty coverage to the public.

Still continuing to compile the school paper themselves except for the actual press printing, "The Mirror" group began a new process by which there were page editors who each laid out his own page. Editors for the newspaper were Pat Berry, Diana Mooi, Phyllis Dery, and Sally Olson.

Cardinal Chatter editors Sally Knoth, Judy Short, and Diane Davison type stories for a regular Saturday issue.

"Dozen" Provide Laughs in Play

As another phase of their education, seniors worked with the class play, "Cheaper by the Dozen" which was presented on November 17 and 18.

Miss Phyllis Coscarelly acted as their director and assisting her were Barbara Pearce, student director, and Pat Berry, production manager.

Centered around the Gilbreth's and their 12 children, the play gave amusement and humor to all concerned. Mother and father Gilbreth were played by Neil Harris and Janet Wellman, and in the drama, only nine of their children were represented. The other three were babies and were upstairs sleeping throughout the play.

The rest of the children were Anne, the oldest daughter, played by Sally Olson, and Frank, the oldest son, played by Gerry Curtiss. Leafa Harris was Ernestine, Jerry Ford was Bill, Fred was played by Glenn Barlow, Lillian by Judy Short and Martha by Judy Bussing. Two of the small children, Jackie and Dan, were played by young boys, Bill Hayes, son of a Coldwater high school faculty member and Duke Harris, brother of one of the cast members.

Others holding parts in the production were Diane Davison, who portrayed Miss Brill, an old maid psychologist-teacher who constantly caused trouble for the family; Chuck Harvey, who acted out the part of Ann Gilbreth's beau, Larry; Chuck Hutchins was Dr. Burton, the family physician; Max Heineman, who played a lively cheerleader who dated Anne once, and his fictitious name was Joe Scales; and Mrs. Fitzgerald, the family's housekeeper, was played by Nancy Perry.

Doctor (Chuck Hutchins) examines Dad while Jackie (Billy Hayes) watches in awe.

Joe Scales, cheerleader, (Max Heineman) leads cheer as he is encouraged by Judy Bussing, Judy Short, and Jerry Ford, three seniors who played the parts of the Gilbreth children.

Juniors Play Frosh

Along with the theme of education for the "Cardinal," the Juniors also chose education as the main idea of their production of "Mother Is a Freshman" by Christopher Sergel.

Presented March 18th and 20th, this three-act comedy was given in the Roosevelt Auditorium under the direction of Miss Phyllis Coscarelly.

Ann Dally, Gloria Hinnefeld, and Patsy Feller clown it up for picture of junior play to be used in newspaper.

The play was centered around the many troubles in which a self-determined mother became involved when she decided to attend college so that she would be able to earn money to help support her family.

The playcast included Kay Seaman, Pat Feller, Earl Russell, Dean Lockwood, Connie Fickle, Gloria Hinnefeld, Ann Dally, and Linda Iffland. Also included in the cast were Lynn Stickney, Carolyn Day, Bill Brown, Mike Vaughan, Gilbert Molitor, Sarah Allemier, and Tom Hosek.

Debaters Study British

"Resolved: that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of education" was the topic debated by the CHS squad coached by Mrs. Judy Dearbaugh.

This year's team was made up of Chuck Hutchins and Janet Wellman of the affirmative and Neil Harris and Bradford White of the negative side.

In the Twin Valley league decisions were split with Battle Creek Lakeview and Albion, and Marshall copped both the affirmative and negative contests. The locals also split with Homer, won over Union City and Tecumseh, and lost to Adrian and Jackson Central.

The entire squad was composed of seniors. For Mrs. Dearbaugh a complete rebuilding will be necessary for the 1959-60 season.

Neil Harris and Bradford White listen intently while opponents deliver arguments.

Tri-Hi-Y Supports Hospitality Cart

In keeping with the idea that clubs should provide educational, as well as social activities, the Tri-Hi-Y Club this year showed charitable and serviceable aims when it supported a non-profit Hospitality Cart at the local hospital.

Members of the group worked during out-of-school hours to take the cart around to patients who might have forgotten, or who might have needed some small article which would make being bed ridden more pleasant.

The club continued, as in the past several years, to donate an annual $120 toward the support of a small Korean orphan boy.

Also a part of their yearly activities was the co-sponsorship of the annual Valentine Formal held this year at the Masonic Temple. The theme for the festivity was "Young at Heart."

Officers for the year were Diane Davison, president; Carol Cameron, vice-president; Barb Pearce, secretary; Sonet Eby, treasurer; Pat Berry, sergeant-at-arms; and Judy Bent, Chaplain.

In order to promote social and religious understanding, a vital basis of education, boys at CHS can join the Hi-Y Club, which was led this year by President Neil Harris.

To accomplish various projects over the year other officers elected were Chick Barlow, vice-president; Don Brown, treasurer; Craig Curtiss, secretary; Art Stanley, sergeant-at-arms; and Ron Wilcox, chaplain.

The club, which is limited to 35 members, obtained a Christmas tree for the school as in past years and also composed a new grace each week to be posted in the cafeteria for the students to read before eating their noon meals.

A Christmas formal, "Stairway to the Stars," was sponsored by the boys on December 26 at the Masonic Temple. The Johnny Clayton Quartet came down from Kalamazoo to play for the occasion.

February 14, the Hi-Y Club, along with the girls Tri-Hi-Y Club, sponsored the annual Valentine Formal, "Young at Heart," at the Masonic Temple.

David Ray and Ron Wilcox work on details for a Hi-Y club project.

Two Scholarships Offered by FTA

When one desires more than just social companionship, he or she usually seeks one of the clubs at CHS where knowledge in a vocation may be obtained.

Such are the members of the Future Teachers Club. Made up mostly of girls, the organization devotes its activities to interesting and acquainting its members with the profession of education.

To further interest someone in future training, two scholarships were offered by the club this year. These awards are given to members of the group who express a desire to continue training in college to be a teacher.

Revenue to finance these awards and various other activities came from selling basketball programs at home games and selling stationery with the school letterhead.

Officers for 1958-59 were Cherie Boyd, president; Joan Gochenour, vice-president; Ellen Rittenhouse, secretary; and Sharon Fuller, treasurer. Miss Ilda Phillips acted as advisor again this year.

Future Teacher President Cherie Boyd works with a group of first graders at Edison School.

Future Nurses Display Hospitality

Several girls in CHS serve in the Future Nurses Club in order to increase their knowledge in a field for their future.

More work was required of each member in 1958-59 as a total of 15 hours were to be completed by the new member with five hours at the Maple Lawn Hospital, the State Home and the Community Health Center.

Members worked with patients as much as possible at the two hospitals and helped with treatment of handicapped children at the State Home swimming pool.

Officers for the 1958-59 year were Helen Long, president; Sandy Fauver, vice-president; Peggy McGarry, secretary; and Judy Fenner, treasurer. Miss Alice McGowan was the club's professional advisor and Miss Rose Steffaniak was the club's advisor.

Pseudo Scientists Build Projects

Under the leadership of Chuck Hutchins, president; vice-president, Neil Harris; and secretary and treasurer, Paul Herman, all boys interested in science spent a busy year in the Science Club.

A Wilson Cloud Chamber, telescopes, a Telsa Coil, a hi-fidelity Knight Kit AM-FM radio, and Van de Graff electrostatic generators were just a few of the projects worked upon by the boys with their advisor, William Timm.

One of the outstanding events of the year for the club was the Science Fair which was held last January. All of the boys' major projects were displayed at this exhibition.

Foremost in the goals of the club is to allow a deeper concentration in science areas in which the individual members are interested.

Spanish Club Honors Scholars

To stimulate interest in the foreign language, a Spanish National Honor Society was newly formed this year within the Spanish Club which is under the direction of Rey Cardenas.

This society was open only to second-year Spanish students who received A's and B's. At the end of the year several students were chosen to receive an award for their excellent work in Spanish.

The entire club again sold programs at the home football games and published their annual student handbook which contained all the names, addresses and phone numbers of every CHS pupil.

Besides presenting a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family, the members also sent CARE packages every few months, thus learning to share their opportunities and good fortune with others.

During the year Tom Hosek presided as president, while Sherman Stanley and Margaret Beckwith acted as vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

German Students Highlight IRC Meetings

With the acquisition of some new German exchange students into the group, the International Relations Club took on a new and inspired look this year. These people were an education in themselves as they represented the good relations between countries which the club wishes to promote.

Highlight of the year was the Model United Nations Assembly held at Hillsdale on Friday, March 20. Several Coldwater students from the IRC attended this convention and learned the proper methods of conducting such an assembly.

All kinds of speakers and programs were instituted into the meetings of the club during 1958-59. Each one was designed to further the members' knowledge of some phase of another country or some problem of the world today. These meetings were much more frequent than they have been in the past, thus showing a genuine interest by members in such topics.

Max Heineman served as president of the club. Other officers were Gelayne Thomas, vice-president; Geva Burkovskis, secretary; Dorte Janssen, treasurer; Oscar Renshaw and Mrs. Dorothy Aitchison, advisors.

Service Club Performs Duties for School

Look out! The ropes are being stretched!

This little duty performed at basketball games to keep spectators off the floor is only one of the many services which the Cardinal Service Club does for the high school.

Made up of boys who want to do something for their school, this organization undertakes to do the tasks which not many other groups care to do. This would include checking groups dues cards at ball games, running errands, and parking cars.

Also on the club's list of helps were the setting up of assembly paraphernalia, carrying around the school various types of audio-visual equipment, and taking care of other extra duties which the advisor, Principal Kermit Dennis, might find for the boys.

Leaders of the club were Ken McLaughlin, president; Charles Harris, vice-president; and Charles Boston, secretary-treasurer.

Two of the activities highlights of the fall season at CHS are the Homecoming ceremonies and the Halloween parade.

Reigning as the 1958 Homecoming Queen was Pat Berry. She was crowned by City Mayor Max A. Olds during the half-time at the Coldwater-Adrian game on October 10.

Taking first prize for their club float in the annual Halloween parade this year was the Girls' Athletics Association. Copping the second and third prizes respectively were the Future Nurses' Club and the International Relations Club.

Riding around the track in flashing convertibles the queen and her court which included senior members Ellen Rittenhouse and Ann Carlisle and junior members Patsy Feller and Linda Iffland began the homecoming ceremonies. Senior escorts of the court included Don Brown, Don Davenport, and Bob Nichols, while juniors were Craig Curtiss and Dean Lockwood.

Approximately 400 students and the faculty attended the Freshman Reception, the main social function of last fall. This annual event was sponsored by the senior class and was held at the Edison School.

Another formal event that attracted couples was the Valentine Formal, which was co-sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y. The Masonic Temple was the scene of this occasion.

These events along with the Junior-Senior Prom and the dances held on Friday evenings at the school outline the social life of the CHS students.

During the 1958-59 school year the student body of CHS was entertained by several professional assemblies.

In October, Major Meyers of Cape Canaveral, Florida, presented a movie and gave a talk on the pioneer probes of the Atlas missile.

Chester Civiernia presented a trumpet assembly on February 19, at which he played several well-known numbers. The highlight was the "Carnival of Venice" in triple-tonguing.

Featuring the animal world was Kayo Green and her friends. Patches, a 34-year-old pony, counted and did various mathematical problems. Another feature was that of an 11-month-old kangaroo, who boxed the ringmistress.

Through cupids and hearts, Coldwater High School students and faculty stepped into a music-filled ballroom for a night made for the 'Young at Heart.' A large pink heart with flowers surrounding it, was the center of attraction at the Masonic Temple the night of February 14. The dancers glided to the music of the Johnny Clayton Dance Band beneath suspended red hearts and flowers.

Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y members added a bright touch to their dance with strawberry punch and cake, served during the evening. At the stroke of midnight, the young at heart of CHS waltzed wearily out and headed for home.

The professional assemblies provided for Coldwater High School this year proved both entertaining and educational. The students witnessed the amazing scientific feats of "Up 'n Atom," listened attentively to the Milwaukee Downer Choir and enjoyed the music of a spirited cornetist.

They sat on the edge of their seats as a prison chaplain walked a convict to his death cell in words and felt a rising pride as the Honorable Judge Hunter told them of Abraham Lincoln. Laughter rose from all as the monkeys and kangaroos of Kayo Green's Circus performed but students listened in deep silence as the beautiful and moving voice of beloved Negro singer, Charles King, filled the auditorium.

Under new head coach Peter Sangalli, the 1958 edition of the Coldwater Cardinal football team finished the season with a 3-5 overall record and a 2-5 slate in the Twin Valley Conference.

Local fans looked for a bright season after Coldwater downed Hillsdale, 13-0, in the season opener and then slipped by Albion, 6-0, for a second victory. The Albion win marked the first victory for the locals in nine years over the Wildcats.

Lakeview, Adrian, and Marshall copped the next three in a row, 19-6, 20-0, 13-6, respectfully, from the Cardinals before Three Rivers bowed to the Sangalli-led gridders, 14-13.

To finish out the schedule Coldwater dropped decisions to East Lansing, 27-6, and Sturgis, 6-0, losing the silver trophy to the Trojans until next year's contest.

Eleven lettermen will return from this season to form the nucleus of the 1959 squad. Fifteen seniors closed out their career with the Sturgis game.

Working alongside the varsity football team are the boys who hope someday to advance to the role of ball carriers or blockers in the Cardinal line.

Two squads, the freshmen, with Pat Lowe as coach, and the reserves, with Gerald Weaver leading them, formed the nucleus of the feeder system for future years.

The frosh, grabbing off three wins in six starts, and the junior Cards, posting a 3-2-1 record, had one of their better seasons of the past few years.

Next season it is hoped that some of the members of these two squads will be found totting the leather as well as the varsity boys on these pages.

Inexperience Costly to Finishing the 17 game-season with only two wins, Coach Floyd Eby is pointing to next year because of the young, inexperienced boys which carried the squad this year.

With only two seniors graduating, the Cardinal cagers will begin the 1959-60 schedule with a group which played most of the time in this season's contests. Six juniors and three sophomores comprised the rest of the 1959 team.

Victories over the Marshall Redskins and the Albion Wildcats gave indication that the potential is there to be developed. The overall record showed little, but the improvement of the squad as the season progressed was climaxed when the Cards held Hillsdale to a narrow 55-51 win in the district tournament here.

Several other games were lost by only a few points and could easily have been victories with a few more breaks. The slogan seems to be now, "Let's win those close ones next year!"

Reserves Work Toward Varsity

A strong varsity is dependent upon the material that is sent up from its subordinate teams. This year the reserve squad promised many varsity hopefuls as they strengthened their total record to 10 wins, 6 losses.

Under the leadership of Coach Frank Lowe the reserve cagers dunked more baskets than their opponents and committed fewer fouls.

Pacing the squad were Jon Pennington and Craig Curtiss with an over-all total of 118 and 114 points, respectively.

The junior Cards managed to finish the season with a league record of 10-4 which gave them a second place tie.

The team consisted of four freshmen, four sophomores and two juniors. They were in order: Mike Pfost, Les Waldron, Leon Clearwater, Howard Hodge, Chuck Eslow, Mike Brayton, Tom Lucas, John Cribbs, Jon Pennington and Craig Curtiss.

Adding spark and enthusiasm to the team, the reserve cheerleaders spent many long hours of practice. The efforts were well rewarded as pointed out by the standings.

The members were Sandy Worden, Nancy Worden, Bonnie Sparks, Janice Berry, Janet Lewis, and Karen Dadd.

Also keeping the reserves on their toes were the two other CHS cage squads, the Freshmen and the Future Varsity. All of the members of these two groups were constantly striving to make the reserves, thereby making the boys under Coach Lowe work harder to hold their positions.

Peter Sangalli coached the Future Varsity for his second year, and William Fairman was at the helm of the Frosh for his fourth straight season.

Coach Wayne Kellogg demonstrates proper techniques of wrestling by using Jim Love for a guinea pig.

After amassing a season standing of four wins, two losses, and one tie, the varsity wrestlers under the direction of Wayne Kellogg experienced a more successful season than last year.

No one of the Coldwater squad managed to qualify for the State event, but the grapplers managed to cop third place in the Twin Valley meet held at Sturgis.

With only two seniors lost by graduation and 1958 reserve team to draw from, Coach Kellogg had a backlog of material to choose from.

Wins of the 1959 season were over Sturgis twice, Dowagiac and Portage once. Three losses were to Adrian and Howe Military. However the Cardinals came back to tie Adrian in a return meet.

Track Coach Faces Rebuilding Task

William Fairman, assisted by Arthur Van Matre, faced a major job of rebuilding the track team this year. The Cardinal cindermen have been the Twin Valley champions for the last two years. Hopes for a winning season hinged on the returning lettermen who were the nucleus of the new squad. Craig Curtis was back at the mile spot after an excellent cross-country season. Tony Hufnagle was back at the pole vault pit. Earl Russell ran the quarter mile. Bill Salisbury threw the shot, Art Stanley was back at the hurdles, Chuck Harvey ran sprints, and other lettermen returning were Jerry Dooley, Dean Lockwood and Jim Mollenkopf.

Fritz Strassburger was sidelined because of an injury but was expected to join the squad later in the season.

With new prospects and the 1958 reserve team to draw from, the hopes for a successful season were augmented. New prospects vying for positions were Ron Worden, shot put; Bill Hansman, sprints; Bud Coe, Harry Smith, John Worden and Ted Hawkins, distances; and Bruce Buys, pole vault.

8 Lettermen Bolster Varsity

Baseball aspirants were summoned to the gym in the middle of March to try out for the varsity nine, under the leadership of Frank Lowe, head coach. Four seniors and four underclassmen returned from the squad which ended in a fourth place tie in the Twin Valley in 1958.

Returning lettermen included Bruce Buys, Tom Smith, Ron Perry, Jon Pennington, Jerry Brown, Chuck Harvey, Art Stanley, and Andrew Paradine. The team consists of one sophomore with the rest being juniors and seniors.

The year began with a 14-game schedule, seven of which were conference contests. Several other boys were held as prospects, but at the time of this writing, no decision had been made.

Coach Gerald Weaver handled a reserve squad besides assisting with the varsity.

Coach Pat Lowe discusses team strategy with his three senior returning lettermen, Chuck Harvey, Art Stanley, and Jerry Brown.

Coldwater High School's reserve baseball squad is composed of freshmen and sophomore boys who could not make the varsity team. This year 32 boys came out, but, unfortunately, they had to be eliminated to 20.

Coach Gerald Weaver is in his sixth year of coaching this reserve team.

Promising prospects for the year were Mike Pfost, Duane Belote, Dan Speaker as pitchers, Doug Miller, Larry Downs, Acie Stanfill as catchers, and Mike Brayton, Rick VanDyke, Leon Clearwater, Jerry Gottschalk, Les Waldron, Jud Parker, Bruce Woods as infielders and outfielders.

The 1959 schedule started out with a game with Sturgis followed by games with St. Charles, Colon, two more with St. Charles, Sturgis, Colon, and another with St. Charles.

Golf Begins With One Veteran

Practice began shortly after spring vacation this year for the golf squad of Coach Wayne Kellogg. Links at the Country Club were used for both practice and competitive meets as in previous years.

Although the team could only boast one returning letterman, Sherman Stanley, the squad opened the year with great ambition for a good year.

Comprised of 10 members, the team set out to improve the win-loss record of last season. The first practice sessions were devoted to developing skills and good attitudes.

Under the new direction of Coach Pierce Roberts, the racquet squad of CHS began the year boasting six lettermen returning from last year's team.

Leading this year's 10-man roster were Ken Elliott, Jim Greenich, Gordon Hincley, Jim Rice, Dave Scheidler, and John Cribbs. The first five were juniors and Cribbs was a sophomore.

Last year the squad members had a bad year and could not battle their way for more than a seventh place standing among the Twin Valley Schools. This year the state regionals were held in Kalamazoo.

Regularly scheduled meets were held with Albion, Lakeview, Sturgis, and Three Rivers on a home basis. One non-conference meet was also held with Hillsdale.

Cheerleaders lead the student body in yells at a pep assembly to arouse school spirit before the initial football game against the Hillsdale Hornets.

Led by co-captains Gayle Quick and Ellen Rittenhouse, the varsity cheerleaders worked to promote school spirit and maintain good sportsmanship at the football and basketball games during the year.

The girls opened the football season with sharp, new cheering uniforms. They consisted of red pleated skirts, white crew-neck sweaters with a big, red 'C,' red leotards and white tennis shoes.

During the year, the squad sold cow-bells, pom-poms and red beanies sporting little white 'C's.'

The girls abolished their old training rules and established a new demerit system in order to have the best cheerleaders possible. One demerit is given if a girl has dirty shoes or if her general appearance is not neat. If a cheerleader receives two demerits within a week, she is off the squad entirely.

The other girls on the varsity squad this year included Dorothy Carlisle, Linda Iffland, and Mary Jane Nichols.

Athletes Hold to High Moral Standards

An athlete can receive an education in sportsmanship and cooperation quickly if he is admitted to membership in the Varsity C-Club of CHS.

Striving to keep high morals and high morale, the club sets high standards for its members, and if the boys do not adhere to the constitution, they are removed from membership.

Operation of the basketball concession stand during the last half of the season brings in much of the club's revenue over the year. Also the boys sold both basketball and football schedule pencils during the current seasons.

President for 1958-59 was Ron Wilcox. Other officers were Jerry Brown, secretary; Charles Harvey, treasurer; Val Hawkins, sergeant-at-arms; and Floyd Eby, advisor.

GAA Hosts 5 Team Playday

Learning to get along with others is an important factor in everyone's education, and this is one of the main points stressed in the Girls' Athletic Association.

Good sportsmanship and cooperation also play a part in promoting the high ideals of the club.

With Margot Treat presiding as president and assisted by vice-president, Judy Worden; secretary, Judy Short, and treasurer, Marcia Bailey, the girls introduced a GAA Play-day for Coldwater and surrounding schools. The first play-day was held here at CHS, and near-by GAA organizations from Sturgis, Bronson, East Lansing, and Hillsdale all participated in a volleyball tournament. Sturgis took first place honors while Coldwater's GAA came in second.

Tournaments among the girls were held in all sports offered to the club. The regular game between the winning tournament basketball team and various women faculty members and faculty wives was again held this year. The girl's team took the honors, 13-8.

Another big project of the club was the annual float in the Halloween parade. Their hard work paid off, and they were awarded with first prize.

Awards were presented to the members at the annual Awards Assembly in the spring. Along with the presentation of the annual Phyllis Mack trophy to a senior girl who displayed outstanding sportsmanship throughout her four years of GAA, nine pearl 'C' pins were given to senior girls. Numerals were given to the freshmen while sophomores received a diagonal and juniors, a large red 'C'. Two hundred points must be earned annually to receive these awards.
