NOTABLE EVENTS

IN THE

HISTORY OF COLDWATER.

PREVIOUS to the coming of the white man, this locality was the red man's paradise. Coldwater prairie was a beautiful bit of country, dotted with fine oak trees and traversed by a running stream or two as well as by the Coldwater River. The adjacent forests abounded in deer, wild turkeys, squirrels and other game, while the waters swarmed with fish.

The following abstract is by no means intended as a history of Coldwater, but merely a list of the noteworthy events of the past eighty-eight years. It will be found valuable as a matter of reference.

1822—Joseph Godfrey established a trading post to barter with the Coldwater Prairie Indians; a little later one Marantette conducted another where Oak Grove Cemetery is now located.

1829—Oct. 29, Branch County was laid out and so named by the Territorial Legislature.

1830—Hugh Campbell erected the first (log) house, on the present site of the Y. M. C. A. The county had 50 whites at this time. Two-horse stages began running over the Indian trail, later made the Chicago road. Entire county tax, $7.36.

1831—Allen Tibbits and Joseph Hanchett platted a village here, calling it Lyons. In July Mr. Tibbits preached the first sermon here. A. F. Bolton built the first frame building in the county, a hotel at Masonville, near the present cemetery bridge; landlord, Harvey Warner. Branch was made the county seat in place of Masonville, which held that honor a few weeks; Branch then had one log hut.

1832—Chicago road built through here, following the old Indian trail. Oriental Hotel built. Peter Martin built a sawmill at the junction of Division and Clay Streets. Cynthia Gloyd taught the first school, with 9 pupils. Silas A. Holbrook established the first store here, and became first postmaster in 1833.

1833—The name of the town was changed to Coldwater, from the Indian "chuck-sey-ya-bish" or cold water. Branch County, as such, began its separate existence, March 1; it had previously been attached to St. Joseph County. First sheriff, Wm. McCarty; clerk, Wales Adams; treasurer and register of deeds, Seth Dunham.

1834—The "old red schoolhouse" was erected near the corner of Pearl and Hudson Streets.

1835—The village of Masonville was platted on the east bank of the Coldwater River and aspired to be the county seat again.

1836—The Methodists built a church.

1837—The village was incorporated; population of entire township 960. Branch County then had 4,016 people. Francis Smith, Thos. Daugherty and Wm. B. Sprague erected a mill on the present site of the "A" mill; it was burned in 1858 and rebuilt in 1859. Dr. Alger at this time found 37 taverns between Quincy and Sturgis. A terrible year for malaria troubles. One historian says that 32 out of the 140 people of the little village died that fall. The cause was said to be the Clay Street milldam built in 1832. A body of angry citizens destroyed it. July 18, Coldwater's first newspaper, the Observer, was issued. This became the News, then the Democrat, whose existence ended when as the outcome of a row among the owners the office was "pied."

1839—Schoolhouse erected at the corner of Pearl and Clay Streets. The present county poor-farm was purchased.

1840—The last of the Pottowattomie Indians, except a few stragglers, were removed to the far west.

1841—Albert Chandler founded the Coldwater Sentinel.

1842—Coldwater became the permanent county seat, supplanting the village of Branch and blasting Masonville's hopes.

1844—The Baptists and Presbyterians built churches, the former where the Old Bank building now stands; the latter is now the Lutheran Church. Benj. H. Parker of Batavia was killed by John White, who mistook him for a deer, those animals, with wolves, bears, etc., being still fairly plentiful. Methodist conference held here.

1845—Robinson Robinson was robbed of $1,500 in silver and gold in a Coldwater tavern.

1846—The first jail was erected. Spring election voted against licensing liquor selling. November 30, American Hotel burned.

1847—County vote decided to build a courthouse; majority, 27, the exact figure by which the proposition to build a new one was carried 40 years later. In this year (1847) a Masonic lodge was established here. The "old white schoolhouse" was erected, on present site of Washington school, also a steam flouring-mill on the corner of Jefferson and Pearl Streets.

1848—First courthouse erected, also "old brick" schoolhouse.

The spring of 1910 was in some respects unusual. Mercury 82° in the shade March 24; heavy snow April 26; snow flurry May 31 with mercury 39°.

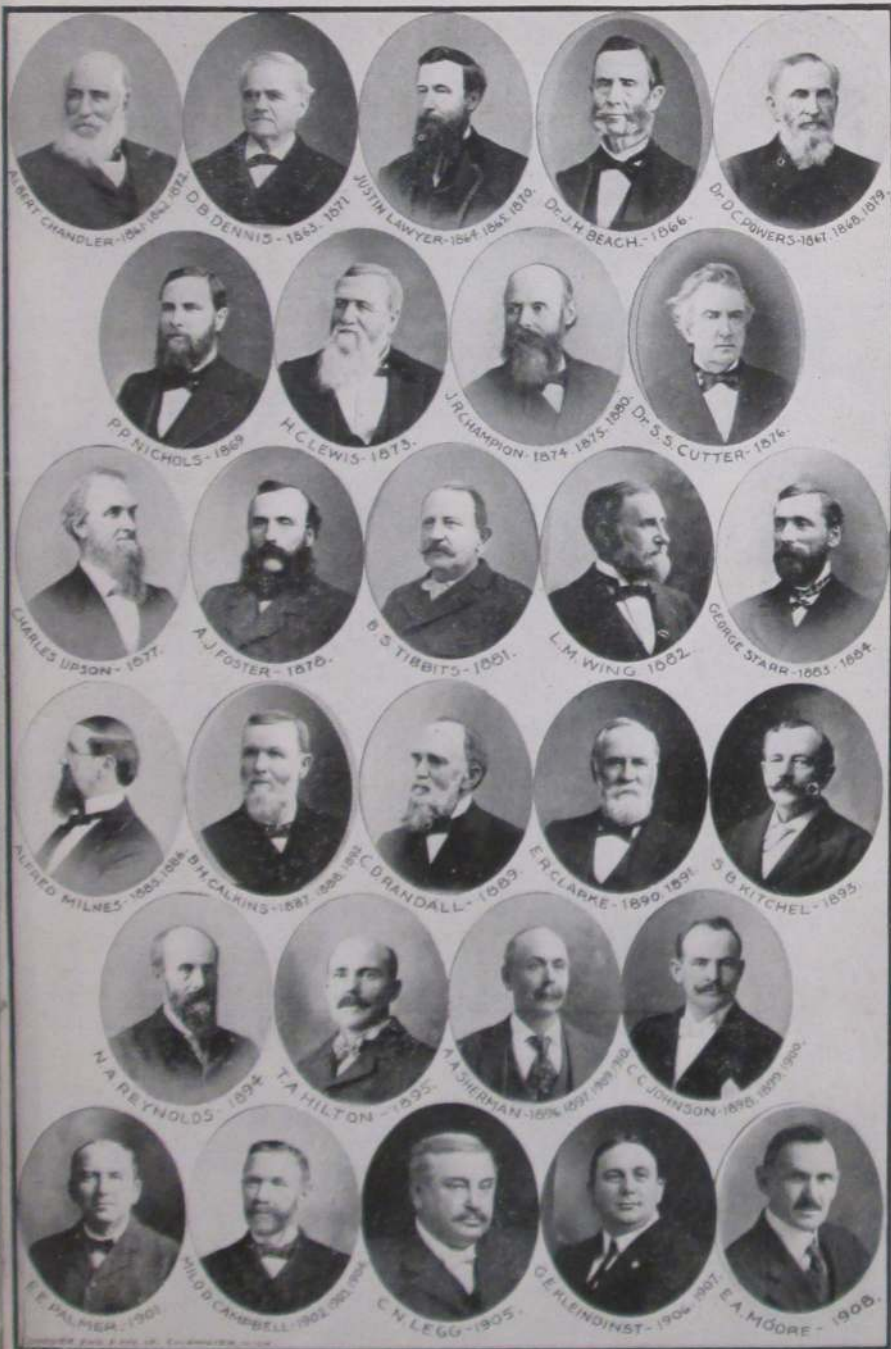

ON the opposite page appears a picture of unusual interest to the people of Coldwater, as well as to the many former residents of this city who are now literally, to quote from Longfellow's beautiful poem, "Evangeline," scattered "From the cold lakes of the north to the sultry southern savannas; from the bleak shores of the sea," not only to the banks of the "Father of Waters," but to the far isles of the Pacific ocean and to the lands beyond the setting sun.

This excellent group picture is made up of the features of the twenty-eight good men and true who have during the past half century presided over the deliberations of our common council in the capacity of Mayor of Coldwater. Heading the list is that staunch old Democrat, Albert Chandler, Coldwater's first mayor, elected in 1861 for his first term and succeeding himself the year following. Ten years later he was again similarly honored, and was followed, in 1874, by his old-time friend and fellow-Democrat, John R. Champion, who also served three terms. Mr. Champion was the last Democrat to serve as Coldwater's mayor until the election of A. A. Sherman in 1896. Of the twenty-eight men who have served as the city's mayor, but five have been Democrats, the quintet being completed in 1901 by the choice of E. E. Palmer.

The law, medicine and nearly every line of business followed in Coldwater have been represented in this office, with the attorneys in the lead in point of numbers thus honored; eight members of the bar have served as mayor. The bankers have been second, with four representatives, while merchants and manufacturers follow next in order numerically. Only one printer, G. E. Kliendinst, has ever attained to this honor—and they got him twice.

Of these twenty-eight men, fifteen are dead, all of those on the four top rows, with the exceptions of John R. Champion, L. M. Wing and Alfred Milnes having passed away. The remainder, with the possible exception of the venerable Mr. Champion, are still among Coldwater's active business men.

The familiar face of T. A. Hilton, mayor in 1895, shows the oldest merchant in the group in point of years of commercial activity in Coldwater. Mr. Hilton came to Coldwater in 1871 and has since made his home here. Almost continuously since then he has been in business for himself, chiefly in the grocery and clothing trades, and boasts that many of those who are now the city's leading business men bought their first "store clothes" from him. Twenty-one years ago Mr. Hilton established himself in the clothing business in his present location, No. 6 West Chicago Street, and in 1904 he purchased the stock of the Drake shoe store, adjoining his clothing store on the east. The partitions were cut away, throwing the two stores into one and making one of the prettiest places of business in a city of handsome stores. In both the shoe and clothing business he has won much of fame and something of fortune and "The Best Clothier" and "T. A. Hilton" are synonymous terms throughout Branch and surrounding counties.

COLDWATER'S MAYORS.

POPULATION

In common with hundreds of other cities of the 6,000 class throughout the United States, the 1910 census gave Coldwater no increase of population—in fact, a small decrease—the great trend having been toward the larger cities and the newer regions of the West and Canadian Northwest. However, this Directory tells a little better story, as may be seen below, and no one doubts Coldwater's solid prosperity and promise of substantial increase from now on. The Government count was made last June, the Directory count several months later, in October and November. Following are the census reports for Coldwater for the years given:
