

Submitted on Tuesday, October 2, 2012 – 09:35

Subject: Accessing my account

My computer says your web security certificate is not updated, therefore I cannot access my account.

Do you have any idea on what is going on?

Mary Carpenter

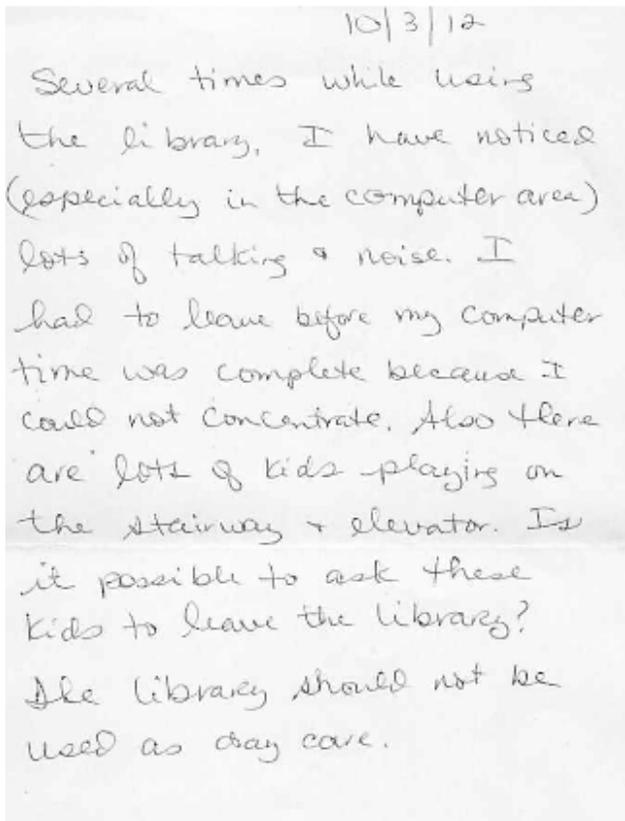

Expired Security Certificate on our Online Catalog (Posted on BDL Website)

Posted Tue, 2012-10-02 15:43 by John

The company that hosts our library catalog accidentally let our security certificate lapse. As a result, you may be getting error messages when you try to access your library card account. We are told the problem should be fixed this evening. In the meantime, you can force your browser to view the account page anyway.

Sent by mail:

No return address, no signature.

10/3/12
Several times while using the library, I have noticed (especially in the computer area)
lots of talking & noise. I had to leave before my computer time was complete because I could not concentrate. Also there are lots of kids playing on the stairway & elevator. Is it possible to ask these kids to leave the library?
The library should not be used as day care.

Patron Comment: Received October 8, 2012

Comments and/or Suggestions:

Let us know what you think? _____

I think Heidi is great!
She answers any question I have ~ she knows everything!

Elizabeth Cox